

Is time on your side? Start by checking your clock.

Do you have the time you need to enjoy life fully? Time for family, time for friends, time to rejuvenate your spirit and pursue your dreams? If not, start by looking at your clock settings. When clocks are not set to the correct time or are not working properly they may be sending a negative message. Your clock may be telling you it's not the right time for love, not the right time for wealth, not the right time for health. So make sure your clocks are set precisely. The 10 minutes you think you're gaining may be holding you back.
